Approved: New homes development for town

AN APPLICATION which seals the future of one of Haverhill's earmarked growth sites has been approved today.

Plans for more than 1,000 homes, a primary school and a "local centre" plus a new relief road on a 43 hectare area in the north-west of the town was approved by St Edmundsbury Borough Council's Development Control Committee.

Controversy and much debate surrounded the building of the relief road – because planning officers had stated that the relief road would have to be completed within five years of the start of building on the housing development.

But councillors said this was not soon enough and the road should be in place to cope with the additional traffic which would result from the new housing.

The application stated: "Originally it was intended that the road should be delivered before any other part of the development.

"However, this would require significant expenditure before any income had been received from the sale of houses.

"This in turn would have had a significant impact upon the viability of the whole development reducing the potential to provide other essential infrastructure."

Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor and borough councillor, told the meeting she supported the application – but "had reservations".

"I am not going to object because we need this housing in Haverhill, and we especially need the 30% affordable housing," she said.

"But I can't see why funding for the road can't be found elsewhere.

"Suffolk County Council and St Edmundsbury Borough Council should be putting their heads together to ensure that this relief road is started now.

"We cannot afford to wait five years," she added.

The completion of the road will be secured by a bond, which will pay for the road if it is not finished within five years.

Cllr Tony Brown, borough and county councillor, said if the road was not built first it would add congestion to Haverhill's existing roads.

He said: "Five years is a long time, and it could have a knock-on effect on transport in Haverhill with all of the extra residents.

"The houses could well be built within five years."

He objected to the plans at the meeting. He said: "My objection is not about the development itself but around the delay in implementing the north western bypass.

"The timescale for delivery of the bypass is just not acceptable to residents.

"Five years after the building of the first house is too long to wait."

Chris Rand, planning officer, told councillors at the meeting that they had looked at other options but had not been successful in getting "forward funding".

Cllr Gordon Cox was in support of the plans but said infrastructure, such as GP surgeries and a community hospital, were needed first.

Other concerns expressed during consultation included the negative impact on crime levels and the impact on nearby homes.

The plans were approved, with 10 councillors in favour and one against.

My brave Archie is an inspiration

Little Archie Outlaw has undergone more than 20 operations – including one to break and rebuild his skull – and he's just four years old.

DEBRA FOX went along to meet him

A BRAVE 4-year-old boy, who has had 20 operations since birth, is getting ready to start school in September, against all the odds.

Archie Outlaw, who lives with parents Kelly and Stephen in Haverhill, suffers from Craniosynostosis, a birth defect which effects the shape of a baby's skull.

But after numerous hospital visits and procedures, one of which included a seven-hour surgery at John Radcliffe Hospital, Oxford, to break and rebuild his skull, Archie is more active than ever, and will start in the reception class at Burton End Primary School in September.

As well as having Craniosynostosis, which effects one in every 2,500 children, Archie suffers from a rare genetic disorder called Frontometaphyseal Dysplasia.

There are only 35 cases of this in the world – and it involves abnormalities in skeletal development, and other health problems.

Mum Kelly, 32, gave up her management job at the town's Tesco store to care for Archie full-time.

She said: "If you had seen Archie three years ago, you would not believe it – he wasn't the same.

"He looked so pale and ill – to see him so much better is great."

Both of Archie's conditions have had other impacts on his health. The little boy, who celebrated his fourth birthday last month, has also had major surgery to repair his windpipe, a tracheostomy, and has had a feeding tube and hearing aids fitted.

Despite this, Archie currently attends pre-school at Burton End every weekday afternoon and is starting to understand what "being a 4-year-old is all about".

He is also having lessons with a speech therapist and a special teacher for deaf children.

"He does get all of the right support from his school," said Kelly.

"He absolutely loves it, and just doesn't let any of his problems bother him."

Archie is due to have follow-up appointments for his skull, ears, windpipe – and knees, which are not growing straight. Archie's legs have previously been in casts due to his muscles and tendons being too tight.

Kelly and her husband Stephen, 35, are currently waiting for a licence to carry out genetic screening to see if

Frontometaphyseal Dysplasia would be passed on to another child. There is a 50/50 chance it could be.

If they cannot have the test, or if the results are positive, Kelly, who is a carrier for the condition, and her husband plan to look into adoption.

Kelly has set up a Facebook page to raise awareness about Archie's condition.

She said: "To see him looking healthy and being active is amazing – he is such an inspiring little boy."

Share your views on new policing priorities online now

RESIDENTS can now submit their ideas for the next policing priorities online.

Haverhill's next Safer Neighbourhood Team (SNT) meeting will be held on June 16 at Haverhill

Arts Centre. On the night, three policing priorities for the town will be voted on by the public to be dealt with by the SNT team over the next quarter. Since the end of last year, the meetings have been recorded in a live stream enabling people to cast their votes if they cannot attend in person.

The meeting starts at 7pm. Visit haverhillvote.co.uk for more information, and to enter your suggestions ahead of the meeting.

Priorities set for next three years

IMPROVING roads and supporting vulnerable people are just some of Suffolk County Council's new priorities.

The five priorities, which also include raising educational accomplishments and empowering local communities, were revealed to councillors last week.

They will be a main council focus from now, until 2017.

Cllr Mark Bee, leader of Suffolk County Council, said: "While our budget may be significantly reduced, we certainly have no intention of simply sitting here talking while services are crudely pared back.

"On the contrary, we believe there is a way of protecting frontline services that the people of Suffolk value the most. To do so, we are going to oversee the most radical redesign this council has ever seen."

Cllr Bee added that "improving education attainment" is the county's top priority and their hard work has started to "bear fruit".

The final priority is supporting the Local Enterprise Partnerships (LEPs) to increase economic growth in the area.

Council officers will put these priorities into practice, and delivery will be overseen by councillors.

Councillor calls for ban on dogs in High Street

NO DOGS ALLOWED? Cllr Gordon Cox, right, wants your views on banning dogs from the High Street and Queen Street in Haverhill.

FIRST it was cars... and now a borough councillor is calling for dogs to be banned from two town centre streets – for the welfare of both people and pets.

At the town meeting last week, Cllr Gordon Cox asked Haverhill Town Council to support his idea to ban dogs from the High Street and Queen Street.

The action will help to combat dog fouling, Cllr Cox said, and he is looking to find out what the public thinks of his idea.

The councillor, who represents Haverhill East, told the Weekly News: "I speak to a lot of shopkeepers down the High Street and Queen Street and a number of them have said that there is a lot of dog mess outside their shops."

As well as clamping down on "irresponsible" dog owners, banning the animals from both streets would stop them from getting their "paws and tails trodden on" and encourage owners to walk them in more open spaces, Cllr Cox added.

"In a crowded shopping precinct like we have, it is unfair on the dogs to keep getting trodden on, and for someone smoking to flick ash, and it land on their fur."

"I am sympathetic to dogs' needs and people's needs."

DEBRA FOX

With all of the "open countryside" in and around Haverhill, there are plenty of other places for owners to walk their dogs, Cllr Cox also said.

The proposal was met with negativity at last week's meeting – with town councillors saying they have not experienced any problems with dog mess in these areas and that it is "nonsense" to try and get the animals banned.

Speaking at the meeting, Cllr Maureen Byrne, deputy mayor, said: "Haverhill does have a dreadful problem with dog fouling – but if it is in the High Street, I have never noticed it."

Cllr Roger André, town mayor, added that he was not "aware of any legislation" that would allow dogs to be banned.

Warning after tools stolen from vans

POWER tools have been stolen from two vans in Haverhill.

The thefts happened between Sunday night and Monday morning.

The first took place in Victoria Road and involved a silver Vauxhall Vivaro van, which was parked in the street. A number of power tools were stolen from inside.

A white Ford Transit van, parked in the front garden of a property on North Avenue, was also targeted, and tools and a disc cutter were among the items taken.

Motorists are being reminded by officers that property should always be removed from inside vehicles.

If tools and other equipment have to be left inside, it is advised that they are stored within a fixed and secure strongbox.

If you have any information contact PC John Moore at Haverhill Police Station on 101 or call Crimestoppers anonymously on 0800 555111.

Man caught stealing parts from employer and selling them on ebay

A MACHINE operator who stole £16,000 worth of parts from his employer and sold them at bargain prices on eBay has been spared jail.

Mark Smith, 34, of Glemsford Place, Haverhill, was caught when his manager at the engineering company Inflight, based at Stansted Airport, recognised tools used to build an aircraft as coming from the business.

He set up a colleague to purchase a package and the trail led back to Smith, Chelmsford Crown Court heard on Monday.

Over four months, Smith took 60 items worth £16,287 at retail price to "pay money off debts".

Smith pleaded guilty to theft by employee between September 2013 and January this year and was given an eight-month prison sentence, suspended for 18 months, with 200 hours of unpaid work, and attendance on a Thinking Skills programme.

Recorder Sandeep Kainth told him: "You took a calculated risk and gambled."

He added: "You stole from your employer over four months. You knew it was very easy to take items and over that time you took at least 60 items and sold them at substantially below cost."

Gerard Renouf, prosecuting, said Smith worked at Inflight twice, from January 2012 to January 2013, and then March 2013 to January 9 this year.

Hangar manager Michael Spencer, based at Stansted Airport, used eBay for personal use and looked at specialised trade items online.

Mr Renouf said: "He looked at some engineering and milling tools that he used in the manufacture of aircraft. He recognised some he was ordering and using."

"Some even had numbers on the casing he was familiar with. One seller had multiple items and he identified some as used at Inflight."

Smith said he had access to various tool boxes and could get out anything he needed.

He admitted stealing boxes of milling bits from Inflight by putting them in his pockets and selling them on eBay. He said he was £30,000 in debt.

Gavin Capper, mitigating, said Smith initially took a packet home in his pocket by accident and kept it for two months.

He continued: "Instead of taking it back he decided to stick it on eBay. He accepts he took these items to sell them to pay money off debts."

"He regrets it. He had a good relationship with colleagues. Inflight is a large global company and he felt he did have a place there and he's sorry for everything he did, for letting them down."

The judge didn't make any order for compensation because of Smith's financial position. He said it was up to Inflight if it wished to pursue civil proceedings.

New hospice centre opens

A NEW centre to support hospice patients and their families is now open for business.

The St Nicholas Hospice Care patient outreach centre was formally opened on Saturday – and will now provide a range of services and therapies for those in Haverhill five days a week.

The centre, which is the first of its kind for the hospice, offers day therapy, family support and community nursing – but does not offer an inpatient service.

Its opening means that patients will no longer have to travel to the main hospice site in Bury St Edmunds for support. Patient Denise Griffin, of Haverhill, led the ribbon cutting.

DEBRA FOX

She said: "People who use the hospice know it is very beneficial.

"You come away with a good attitude. Everybody's always cheerful. It is not a place that's morbid. It is a hive of activity.

"This centre, for me and the people of Haverhill, is fantastic. For us to be the first in Suffolk – we're not the poor relation, we're the first – is great."

She was joined by Mandy Wilson, centre manager, Barbara Gale, chief executive, Canon Richard Norburn, hospice founder, and Cllr Roger André, town mayor.

Cllr André said: "Everyone I meet in Haverhill tells me a story of someone they know who has benefitted from the help of the hospice. That the hospice has had the confidence to invest in us is wonderful.

"And where else could you find a setting so appropriate to the work of the hospice."

The centre's Haven Cafe can be used by the public, and is open from 9.30am until 12.30pm every weekday.

Treatments and services, for those with life-shortening illnesses and their families, will take place upstairs.

The Burton Centre will be open Monday to Friday, from 9am until 5pm.

There will be appointments available for patients with doctors, nurse-led clinics and the physiotherapy team.

The Registrar will continue to be based within the Burton Centre every Thursday, and the centre's large community room will also be used by a number of local groups.

It's time for the Big Collection

VOLUNTEERS are being sought to help with a weekend-long collection for charity.

A three-day event, in aid of Diabetes UK, is taking place next weekend at Haverhill's Tesco store on Cangle Road.

Last year's event raised £700 for the charity, but Chris Turk, Diabetes UK Team Leader, is hoping to top the total at the town's collection next week.

He said: "Every pound raised is going straight to helping people with diabetes and supporting the scientists that are looking at new ways of treating, preventing and hopefully one day curing the disease."

The collection is on June 13, 14 and 15. Volunteers are especially needed on Friday and Saturday between 3pm and 6pm, and on Sunday between 10am and 1pm.

To volunteer visit diabetes.org.uk/bigcollection or contact Chris on 07187238341.

A HELPING HAND: Last year's Big Collection at Haverhill Tesco.

Man, 45, caught filming up women's skirts

A HAVERHILL man who trawled the streets of Cambridge to film up the skirts of young women told a court he didn't think he was doing anything wrong.

Darren Ling, of Cramswell Close, Haverhill, amassed a library of up to 200 videos and stills of young women, often in short skirts, who he covertly recorded from behind.

A court was told he would angle his camera up dresses so he could film women's underwear and was also found with child abuse images on his computer.

But despite the revelations, the court heard his long-term girlfriend is standing by him.

Graham Dalley, prosecuting at Cambridge Magistrates' Court, said the defendant was caught when an off-duty police officer saw him acting strangely on July 10 in the city centre.

He said: "Mr Ling is seen walking unnaturally close to a female and seemed to have something in his hand."

"The female was wearing a

very short skirt and the officer realised Mr Ling had been filming up the girl's skirt."

In an interview with police, parts of which were read to the court, Ling, 45, said he filmed girls once a month in Cambridge, as well as at car boot sales and once in Suffolk.

He said they were for his own personal use.

Mr Dalley said: "Mr Ling said he left home at about 9am with the intention of walking around the shops. He said if he saw any pretty girls he would film them."

"He did not see what he was doing was wrong until he was arrested because the girls were not aware they were being filmed."

"He said he had filmed them covertly because they would have been upset if they knew and they would feel violated if they knew what he was doing with the films."

When police searched Ling's home they found 23 child abuse images. Four of those were at level 4, the second most serious category.

One image involved a baby.

He admitted two counts of outraging public decency, possession of indecent photographs of a child and making indecent photographs of a child at a previous hearing.

Paul Cammiss, mitigating, said his client, who has no previous convictions and was open with police from the start, was "very naive" when he initially told police his filming was harmless.

He said: "He now does recognise the seriousness of the offences and his partner sits at the back of the court."

"She is quite horrified about what has happened, but she is very anxious that she needs his support as much as he needs hers."

He said his client "appreciated" the "shape of the female figure" adding there was no suggestion any of the victims were under the age of 18.

Magistrates decided their powers of sentencing were insufficient and his case was sent to the crown court.

Attempted burglary at Haverhill home

THIEVES attempted to break into a house in Vange Place on Monday, at around 2.25am.

The occupants were asleep upstairs when they heard a noise coming from the rear patio doors. They shouted out, and caused the offenders to flee.

Marks were found on the door close to the lock, but no entry was gained to the property.

Operation Corn Exchange begins!

AT last week's meeting of Haverhill Town council, a proposal was put forward to save the old Corn Exchange for use as a heritage centre and town museum.

With so much of the town's heritage demolished, it would wonderful if this handsome old building could be restored to its former glory to celebrate our town's history.

The building could easily be purchased for the town from the council's building acquisition fund, and once purchased, there have been serious offers of help towards its restoration.

This has the potential to be a real community project. What better legacy could there be for the future generations of our town, and also an appropriate way to commemorate our town council's 25th anniversary year?

So if you'd like to get involved, or simply want to find out more, the proposal is due to be discussed at the next meeting of our town council on 24th June, at the Arts Centre, at 7pm.

Operation Corn Exchange is about to begin!

REVIEW: The Producers, by Centre Stage Company

'If you've got it, flaunt it!' – this vivacious version of The Producers by Centre Stage Company certainly 'has it' and the immensely talented cast and crew never held back on the 'flaunting', drawing their audience into a hilarious world of farce and irreverence.

Mel Brooks' show chronicles Max Bialystock, a Broadway producer whose latest show flops.

After meeting Leo Bloom, who reveals that money can be made from failure, the pair creates the worst musical ever: Springtime for Hitler.

However, the show becomes an unexpected hit, with hilarious consequences.

Andy Letcher is superb as Max, an experienced stage presence with perfect comic pace, who handled his complex songs with emotion and panache.

Tom Ogden's insecure Leo is a comic delight, complimented by effortless melodic singing. Kelly Mephams' Ulla was an endearing mixture of raunchy yet naïve, showcasing her vocal skills, while Ian Davison's Franz Liebkind was disturbingly charismatic.

Adam Mephams and Maximilian

Murphy brought down the house with their interpretations of Roger De Bris and assistant Carmen Ghia 'keeping it gay'.

The ensemble featured many principals from previous productions and some new faces, who ably navigated an array of eccentric characters and choreography.

Karen Chinery - musical director - had clearly worked tirelessly with the cast, and the accompaniment provided by some of the best musicians in the area was punchy yet sympathetic.

The satire of homosexuality and National Socialism has risks, and Chris Lines - director - sophisticatedly balanced irony and comedy, without slapstick.

Centre Stage epitomises successful amateur theatre – rich talent, teamwork, fun and friendship, which radiated from their performance.

'Smile, and the world smiles with you' – we certainly did, and the rapturous first night applause was well deserved.

Catch this great show at Haverhill Arts Centre until Saturday, June 7. Contact the box office on 01440 714140.

All set for festival fun

There are just a few days to go now before the town is taken over by an array of arts. DEBRA FOX finds out more

A MONTH of comedy, theatre, music and street entertainment is kicking off next week.

This year's Haverhill Festival is starting with a bang on June 12 – with a live broadcast from the National Theatre.

Local people of all ages will find an event to suit their tastes, with a jam-packed programme for all the family running until July 6.

The town's ever-popular street festival will return on July 5 – when a group of weird and wonderful entertainers will take over the High Street for the day.

Nick Keeble, leisure manager, said: "For me this year's festival is very 'Haverhill' and that's because it's not just about getting in the big names but in the number of community and free events."

The traditional last night of the festival proms will be held at the Old Independent Church on July 6 – but this year's finale will be a moving tribute to former mayor Les Ager, who died in 2013.

Cllr Ager was much-involved in the town's musical scene, and joined Haverhill Silver Band in 1953, before becoming musical director in 1964. He was also a founding member of Haverhill Operatics Society and conducted in Newmarket, Ipswich and Horringer.

The silver band will be involved in the proms concert, which will feature some of Cllr Ager's favourite pieces of music, finishing with a rousing finale.

Other events exclusive to this year include the showing of a documentary made about the Haverhalf and Haver10 races, held in May, and screenings of England's World Cup fixtures against Uruguay and Costa Rica.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYONE: Pictures taken during last year's Festival

Mr Keeble added: "The Travelling Treasury at the library, for example, looks lovely and the history walks organised by the Haverhill and District Local History Group are always fascinating."

"One not to miss is the St Nicholas Hospice comedy night – loads of stand-up and hopefully loads of money for the hospice too."

■ See page 19 for full listings, or visit haverhill-tc.gov.uk to download a brochure and get prices.

Many of the events taking place are free of charge.

Students get cycle smart at workshops

ON YOUR BIKE: Students at Castle Manor Academy taking part in cycling workshops.

HAVERHILL students have been getting on their bikes as part of weekly workshops.

Castle Manor Academy and Burton End Primary have been visited by coaches from British Cycling, and have had the chance to ride mountain and road bikes and learn new areas of cycling technique such as road racing, pacing and corner technique.

Students from age 8 to 17 have been taking part in the sessions, which have been delivered as part of the PE curriculum and as after school clubs.

Andrew Barratt, team leader for PE, said: "These are excellent opportunities, with students benefiting from the same coaches who are working with Olympic level athletes."

John Stockley, British Cycling Coach has been delivering the sessions alongside coach Mark Wyer. He said: "The students have given their all, completing tough courses and improving each week."

Women steal £20 cash from beauty salon staff room

STAFF at a Haverhill beauty salon have spoken of their shock after money was stolen from their staff room.

Three people were working at C&B Beautiful, on Queen Street, when the shop fell victim to a distraction theft, carried out by two women "speaking with foreign accents".

The women entered the salon at 11.40am on May 27 and asked Chloe Murphy, who came to serve them at the front desk, for an appointment the next day.

Following this, one of them asked to use the toilet.

Ali Smith, a beauty therapist, said: "Chloe heard the staff room door open instead of the bathroom door and caught one of the women trying to take a purse and phone. "She pretended that she wanted a tampon - they weren't even trying to steal our stock, these were our personal things."

After the women had left, staff realised £20 had been taken from Ali's purse.

"It was a bit of a shock really," she said. "You don't expect it to happen. I completely trust this space, and you never think it's going to happen to you."

Ali, 18, has worked at the salon for a year and Chloe, 19, has been part of the team for two-and-a-half years.

Darren Grimes, whose wife

Caroline owns the salon, spoke of his disgust at the crime.

"I want to see these young women stopped," he said.

"I feel that St Edmundsbury Borough Council isn't doing enough regarding the CCTV camera system in Haverhill."

"They will spend the money in Bury St Edmunds but they don't care about Haverhill as much. My wife pays high rates - why can't we have a better system for it?"

A spokesman from Suffolk Police said that officers had spoken to staff at other salons following the incident, and that women, matching the description, had been in and asked to use their toilets.

They had been refused.

Plans move forward for south of town

A PANEL of residents, which will present ideas to transform the south of Haverhill, is set to be finalised in two weeks.

The People's Panel will form part of a project, facilitated by Community Action Suffolk, which could see £200,000 spent in the town's south ward.

Meetings have already started with local people in the area - and some of the ideas so far include improvements to Puddlebrook Playing Fields, additional equipment for Jubilee Park and work on the green space at Argyle Court.

Another suggestion was to improve the environment surrounding the parade of shops in the area around the Leiston Centre.

Residents are being asked to consider what is in the area for particular age brackets - 0-5, 6-11, 12-18, young families and 55 plus - and what they would like to see on offer.

The money is being awarded through the People's Health Trust and funds have been made available to three areas across Suffolk. The others are Kirkley in Lowestoft and Gainsborough in Ipswich.

A series of meetings are due to take place over the coming weeks to finalise the main ideas for the area. These will then be submitted to the People's Health Trust at the end of August, and a decision will then be made on releasing the money.

You can submit your ideas to Community Action Suffolk by texting 07990576893 or emailing Elaine Hewes, volunteer field officer, on elaine.hewes@communityaction-suffolk.org.uk.

Man jailed for bringing drugs to prison

A MAN who tried to smuggle cannabis into a prison has been jailed for eight months.

Asghar Azam, 30, was spotted by staff at Highpoint Prison handing two cigarettes, containing the drug, to his brother on January 11.

The 30-year-old told Ipswich Crown Court that he had bought the cigarettes for £20.

Michael Crimp, prosecuting, told the court that suspicion was aroused in the prison visiting room when he made signals to his brother that he had something to hand over.

David Wright, defending, said Azam, of Headington, Oxford, had no previous drug-related convictions.

He had previously served a prison sentence, but had been trying to avoid involvement in crime. He missed the birth of one of his children, because he was previously in prison, Mr Wright added.

Azam had also been "under considerable pressure" from his brother when he agreed to smuggle the drugs.

Judge Rupert Overbury said: "Those who are caught passing or attempting to pass drugs to prisoners in HM prisons can only expect a sentence designed to deter other people from doing so."

Can you help with a litter pick?

COMMUNITY ambassadors will be taking to the streets on Saturday in a bid to clean up – and they want your help.

A litter pick, starting at Haverhill Rugby Club, is being held from 9.45am until 12pm.

The ambassador scheme was launched in February. Michael Simpkin, one of the members, said: "We are looking for people who want to take action against litter in our town."

"As community ambassadors we wanted to tackle a problem area in Haverhill and this area of town near the park, rugby club and duck pond has suffered with litter problems in the past and this is a quick way in which we can make a big difference to our community."

The litter pick will take place around School Lane. Equipment will be provided for volunteers.

For more on the scheme call 01440 708444.

Have your say on GP services

LOCAL people have been sharing their views on GP services in Haverhill.

A survey, launched by Healthwatch Suffolk, has taken place over the last month, in the hope that feedback will help to improve services.

Questions included which surgery participants are registered at, how long they have been registered and how long they have waited for an appointment.

DEBRA FOX

Those filling in the survey were also asked to share their thoughts on what is an appropriate wait time and whether or not it is difficult getting an appointment.

Beth Boughtwood-Eason, 24, was "disgusted" with staff after she visited her surgery while pregnant last year.

She said: "I finally got a doctors appointment after ringing for 90 minutes – but had to wait five hours for my appointment."

"When I got there I waited 45 minutes and still hadn't been called and was starting to feel very ill."

"I went to reception and hadn't even been booked in – another 45 minutes later the doctor called me through."

"He asked how I was, and told me I didn't have to come to the doctors for every twinge."

Two weeks later, Beth was admitted to Addenbrooke's with suspected pre-eclampsia, and she was induced at 37 weeks.

Annie Topping, chief executive at Healthwatch Suffolk, said it is important that services are delivered with "patients at their heart" and that feedback will help with how facilities are run in the future.

JMP for furniture you'll love

A FAMILY business has developed a strong client base by producing bespoke furniture to meet the needs of customers big and small.

John Fowler, with son Paul and daughter-in-law Shirley, are partners of JMP Furniture Solutions.

John originally moved from London to Haverhill more than 40 years ago and became involved in the furniture business, working for Jarman and Platt. Their family company JMP Furniture Solutions at Homefield Road, Haverhill has found that the combination of factory facilities, plus skills and expertise, has enabled them to meet the increasing needs of the domestic market for quality fitted bedrooms, home offices and bespoke items, which are manufactured and polished or sprayed at Homefield Road.

The company's team of 10 staff take on a full range of jobs including manufacturing for Cambridge colleges – where they fitted out 22 rooms last year – to fitted bedrooms and home offices.

John said: "We do a lot of work for hotels, colleges and shop fitters. This is a specialist service, given to those who enjoy the consideration and personal attention given. JMP Furniture Solutions is large enough to cope, but small enough to care."

The showroom at Units 5 and 6 Fennfield Industrial Estate, Homefield Road, is open from 8am-4.30pm on weekdays, 9am-1pm on Saturday, or call (01440) 762727.

Final push for town's fair deal campaign

ONLY 200 signatures are needed before a petition calling for a fair deal for Haverhill can be presented to borough councillors.

The petition, launched in February this year by the Haverhill and Kedington Labour Group, is asking for the town's share of the Council Tax Support Grant to be passed on, instead of being retained by St Edmundsbury Borough Council.

Speaking at the annual town meeting on Tuesday last week, Diana André said that if enough signatures are collected, the petition will be presented to full council at the borough on June 30.

A minimum of 2,500 signatures are required before a petition can be debated in front of the borough council.

If this goes ahead, the petition organiser will be given five minutes to present the argument. Councillors will then have 20 minutes to discuss.

As previously reported, Haverhill Town Council is set to lose £129,000 over the next four financial years following a decision by the borough council not to pass on a sum of money allocated to them by central government.

All parishes and towns in St Edmundsbury are facing cuts, until their period of support is phased out completely.

This year alone, Haverhill Town Council had to make additional savings of £32,000 to make up for the reduction.

Visit is.gd/haverhillpetition to sign online. You can also add your signature in person at Haverhill Arts Centre.

EVENT: Helen Chaplin, Haverhill Research Park on site sales manager and Harry Rands of agents Bidwells.

Agents visit new Research Park

COMMERCIAL agents from Cambridge have visited Haverhill Research Park.

The 30 visitors enjoyed a champagne reception and tour, followed by lunch at the Flying Shuttle.

Harry Rands, of Bidwells, won the prize draw on the day, giving him a meal for two at Midsummer House, Cambridge. Nic Rumsey, of Carisbrooke, said: "It was a great turnout and we were delighted that so many agents from Cambridge came to see the park in all its glory with the road infrastructure now in place and fully-serviced plots available for occupiers."

NEWS IN BRIEF

Consumer champions wanted

AN ARMY of consumer champions is being sought to protect Suffolk.

The new recruits will help the public have more access to information about consumer rights, and how they can be protected from rogue traders.

Cllr Colin Spence, cabinet member for public protection, launched the Join The Fight Scheme at the Suffolk Show last Thursday.

Anyone over 18 can become a consumer champion – visit suffolk.gov.uk/jointhefight for more information, and to complete an application form.

Bishop praises Suffolk show

THIS year's Suffolk show has received high praise from the acting Bishop for the county.

The show, held on Wednesday and Thursday of last week attracted crowds from across the area – despite the wet weather.

The Rt Rev Dr David Thomson was at the show both days.

He said: "The show brings together people from many places and backgrounds."

"It is a time to celebrate all that is good about Suffolk, and to look together to the future. These two days showcase all the very best our county has to offer."

Get out and learn some history

A HISTORICAL walk through Haverhill is taking place on Sunday.

A talk will accompany the afternoon out, which is being led by Tony Turner and Dr Patrick Crouch, from Haverhill History Society.

It will start from the library at 2pm, and run until between 3pm and 3.30pm.

Cost is £5, and refreshments will be provided on the day.

The 2014 Food & Drink Awards have arrived....

ABOVE: Ian Cross from headline sponsor The House Collection celebrates the launch of the Food & Drink Awards with magazines and features editor Alice Ryan, event organiser Karen Ball and Cambridge Newspapers' director of operations and communication Jonathan Tewson.

CAMBRIDGE and the surrounding area is home to one of the most dynamic food scenes in the country – and we think it's high time to celebrate that. Welcome to the inaugural Cambridge News and Cambridge Magazine Food & Drink Awards.

Not so long ago, our corner of the country was dismissed as gastronomically unremarkable; nowadays it's home to a buzzing, diverse and delicious menu of restaurants and cafés, farm shops and delis, wine merchants and bars, producers, pop-ups and street food vendors. Our area is truly making its mark on the food and drink map.

Held in association with boutique hotel company The House Collection, our Food & Drink Awards are designed to recognise all those people and places bringing the very best to our local table.

We believe our readers have great taste and know exactly where in the region the best food and drink can be found – so we want you to nominate your favourite in each of our seven categories. Nominating is easy – simply visit the web page: cambridge-news.co.uk/Food-and-drink/Food-and-Drink-Awards-2014-29042014.htm.

Alternatively, use the nomination form on page 21 of this newspaper.

Each category is being sponsored by a respected name in the food and drink industry or a company that supports this valuable sector of the economy.

The deadline for nominations is midnight on Friday, June 13. We'll count up all the nominations and the top three in each category will be put before our panel of expert judges – and the winners will be announced at a celebratory presentation night, held at The House Collection's Paddocks House hotel, Newmarket, in July.

So go on. Tell us what tickles your tastebuds. . .

PRIZE TIME

AS well as a smart award, The Food Marketing Expert team will offer each of the winners a two-hour mentoring session to discuss their marketing, design, website, sales and social media to help grow their business even further. "Each winner will receive a goodie bag packed with delicious treats and vouchers for various services and useful business locations, such as a four-day pass to use at the Cambridge Business lounge, because time to work on your business is as vital as working in it," says The Food Marketing Expert's Vhari Russell.

"We are delighted to be supporting the Food & Drink Awards as Cambridgeshire has such a great base of producers and food retailers. We are thrilled they are going to get their moment to shine."

BEST RESTAURANT

Which restaurant offers the highest quality food and best customer experience? Judges will be looking for original and creative menus, where the finest fresh ingredients are at the heart of the food.

A word from the sponsor:

"Conscious Communications was born out of a passion for communications and a desire to build a company that delivers a superior service through transparent, honest and long-lasting working relationships with its clients; hence our strapline 'public relations and marketing with a conscience'.

"The team has a long and successful history of working in the food and drink industries and this, combined with our focus on excellence in all that we do, means that initiatives like the Food & Drink Awards, which celebrate great business practice, are really important to us."

• See consciouscomms.com.

INDEPENDENT FOOD RETAILER

This award recognises many of the wonderful products grown and made in our region. We are looking for retailers who combine vision with a passion for high-quality food and freshness of local produce.

A word from the sponsor:

"Chocolat Chocolat is thrilled to be sponsoring the category of Independent Food Retailer. As an independent retailer, and one of Cambridge's favourites, we know how important it is to help these unique businesses thrive and encourage all Cambridgeshire residents to use them as often as possible. They add colour to the high street and help Cambridge stand out as a top tourist spot in East Anglia.

"We already do our bit by using these suppliers as often as possible and through our Friday Foodie Friends feature on our Facebook page where we tell our chocolate community all about the local businesses we recommend."

• ChocolatChocolat is at 21 St Andrew's Street, Cambridge.

BEST PUB/BAR

This award will be given to an establishment that offers consistency and excellence in their drinks specialism as well as good facilities and a great ambience. The judges will be looking at the service and overall feel and facilities of the pub/bar as well as the drinks menu.

A word from the sponsor:

"Corkers Crisps are delighted to be sponsoring the Best Pub/Bar category as we supply our crisps to a lot of pubs and bars in and around Cambridgeshire, and nationally. We are very proud of our roots and have been growing potatoes on our family-owned farm in Pymoor since the 1800s. Quintessentially British, our crisps are hand-cooked in sunflower oil in our own factory. We currently have six flavours, three of which – Sea Salt, Sea Salt & Black Pepper and Pork Sausage & English Mustard – won Gold Great Taste Awards in 2013. And we're about to launch another, Gressingham Duck & Hoisin Sauces. . ."

• See corkerscrisps.co.uk.

BEST FOOD ON THE MOVE

From street food stands to pop-ups, independents to high street institutions, this award celebrates MONTAZ Contemporary Indian Dining taking takeaway food to a whole new level.

A word from the sponsor:

"Montaz is delighted to be a part of these awards as we feel it is important to recognise the hard work of all those individuals who open businesses and achieve success with passion and determination. It is a privilege to be able to highlight the innovation behind some of the great products we have in Cambridgeshire."

• See montaz.co.uk.

INDEPENDENT DRINK RETAILER

Which local institution does the best job supplying drinks within our region and beyond? This is a company that offers an exceptional range of drinks, whether it be a wine store or local ale enterprise.

CHEF OF THE YEAR

This prestigious award is open to all chefs working within Cambridgeshire. Nominees may come from all areas of the hospitality business, including hotels, restaurants, pubs, contract catering, fine dining, private and public sectors.

A word from the sponsor:

"Every year we help hundreds of young people achieve their dreams of a career in this exciting sector – with former students regularly reaching the very top in the industry.

"Great training is key to becoming a great chef, and CRC is one of the leading colleges for students and apprentices keen to make a career in the catering and hospitality sectors. The college has some of the best facilities in the country."

HOSPITALITY OF THE YEAR

This venue offers attention to detail, a reputation for superior care and consideration, and a desire to offer their customers a first class service each visit.

A word from the sponsor:

"The House Collection is delighted to sponsor the Food & Drink Awards in a region where there is an abundance of fabulous food and drink businesses.

"The House Collection has two new boutique venues – Poets House in Ely and Paddocks House near Newmarket. The Dining Room offering is at the very core of both hotels.

"As headline sponsor, The House Collection will host the Food & Drink Awards night at Paddocks House in July. We think this event is the perfect showcase for both our brand and concept."

RUNNERS: The colour run will take place next month.

Sign up for a charity colour explosion!

A CHARITY is appealing for colours to explode around Suffolk for a charity run. East Anglia's Children's Hospice are holding a Treehouse Colour Dash on July 12.

Runners wearing white will descend on the route, and at every kilometre, will have coloured powdered paint thrown at them by the EACH Colour Pirates.

By the end of the route, the runners' white t-shirts will have become "crazy artistic masterpieces".

Patsy Johnson-Cisse, EACH Suffolk Fundraiser and event organiser, said: "We're so pleased to be launching the Treehouse Colour Dash in Suffolk and have had a lot of interest from the public already. The aim is to take part, have fun and finish the course wearing a big smile and of course your very own colour explosion." Visit each.org.uk to sign up.

Surveys due for A1307 plans

ALL STAKEHOLDERS affected by any potential developments to the A1307 will be consulted before work takes place, the county council has confirmed.

In a letter to Stuart Miller, chairman of Horseheath Parish Council, Dearbhla Lawson, head of transport, said a period of "study work" will take place to identify options for the Haverhill to Cambridge corridor.

But first, traffic surveys on the route are going to take place to assess how many motorists use the road – and what the key challenges are to overcome.

Mr Miller wrote to the county council in May to voice his concerns about dualling the road, and the effect it would have on Horseheath.

He said: "We are not a very big village – we have about 350 people, and 80 people came to our parish meeting to discuss the main road for Haverhill becoming a dual carriageway.

"There was a unanimous vote that we should write and express our concern to anybody who might want to listen."

In her reply Ms Lawson said that the Transport Strategy for Cambridge and South Cambridge-shire, which has been planned to accommodate growth in the area, aims to reduce the need to travel by car – and that sustainable modes of transport will become more accessible.

But Mr Miller has said that Haverhill "should not have been allowed" to develop so much when it has no suitable roads out of town to carry the traffic.

Mr Miller said: "Expanding the road or building a new road will allow Haverhill to grow at a detrimental rate to the villages along the road."

"There is agreement amongst the villages that putting a road through the countryside is just not desirable."

Ms Lawson added that work will take place to investigate options for a High Quality public Transport Scheme, and that study work and consultation with the public will start following the traffic surveys.

Mr Miller said: "We are very pleased that when the survey comes, they will be doing it by number plate recognition which will show exactly where the traffic is going."

Thousands with diabetes are undiagnosed

APPROXIMATELY 2,500 people in West Suffolk who have Type 2 diabetes have not had it diagnosed, a charity has said.

Diabetes UK has announced that in West Suffolk, around 13,650 have diabetes. Only 11,100 people have been diagnosed.

In an international survey of 1,100 people who completed an online risk assessment to see if they were at high risk of having diabetes, over one in 20 went on to be diagnosed by their GP. The charity are now urging people to take the online assessment to get type 2 diagnosed earlier.

Barbara Young, CEO, said: "If left unchecked, Type 2 diabetes can lead to devastating health complications such as amputation, blindness and stroke.

"I would urge anyone who has any of the risk factors to find out their risk status as soon as possible, whether online or at a local pharmacy or GP surgery." Visit riskscore.diabetes.org.uk

Old Red Lion rejuvenated

IF you are looking for a traditional country inn, with a warm welcome, delicious food and a relaxed atmosphere, then The Old Red Lion in Horseheath is a great place to visit.

The pub has so much to recommend it. Having recently been fully refurbished, it offers great real ales and a selection of other drinks in comfortable surroundings. If you just want to relax over a pint after a long countryside walk with your dog, the good news is that the bar is pet friendly!

But that's not all that The Old Red Lion can offer. They also provide high quality home-cooked food, all freshly made and prepared to order. Priding themselves on using the freshest vegetables and other ingredients, they also source as much produce locally as possible. With a regularly changing menu, highlights include their fresh soups, home-made "pie of the day", and Wednesday steak nights where you can get steak for two and a bottle of house wine for a bargain price of just £28. Or why not visit on a Sunday, to sample their popular Sunday Carvery: so popular, in fact, that they recommend that you book before arrival!

For a lovely rural weekend break, or overnight stay, the inn also has stylish and comfortable guest bedrooms. With luxurious suites and smaller double and twin rooms available (all with en suites), and breakfast included in all prices, you can also once again bring your much-loved pet along with you - just make sure you notify the pub beforehand when booking.

So for a great selection of drinks, lovely ambience, mouthwatering food and a comfortable stay, why not head out to The Old Red Lion soon.

The Old Red Lion Inn is in Linton Road, Horseheath, Cambridge, CB21 4QF. Telephone them on (01223) 892909 or visit their website at theoldredlion.co.uk.

Come into the garden . . .

KEEN gardeners are being invited to enjoy the sunshine at an event in Great Thurlow this weekend.

A garden open day and plant sale is being held on Sunday from 2pm at Great Thurlow Hall.

The event will take place in the hall's 15 acre garden, which has been developed over the last century.

Within the garden there are canal walks, a trout lake, a rose and kitchen garden,

BLOOMING NICELY: At Great Thurlow Hall

fruit trees and a plentiful vegetable patch.

Some of the plants available for sale can be seen around the garden, which also includes yew hedges. There will also be home-made teas on offer, and a nature trail.

Admission for adults costs £4, and entry for children under 16 is free.

Well-behaved dogs on leads are also welcome.

For more information about the event, call Alison on 07773 631222.

dine out for £10

HERE'S a tasty offer! The Cambridge News' Dine Out for £10 promotion is back – and Cambridge News & Crier readers can access a special bonus token to help them join in!

The offer gives you the chance to enjoy great value meals out at a host of pubs and restaurants in our region.

All you need to do is combine two tokens from the News with the bonus token printed here and you are ready to enjoy the offer.

You'll find details of all the participating venues on this page – and there's a great selection.

You can also find details at www.cambridge-news.co.uk/Dine-Out-for-10/ – or find the section on our site by clicking on Lifestyle > Food and Drink.

You'll also find a bonus token on our website too, which you can combine with two from the News to participate.

Thousands of readers have enjoyed this offer in the past – why not give it a go?

We'll print tokens regularly in the Cambridge News, enabling you to try out as many of the venues as you like before the offer closes on Friday, June 20, 2014.

HOW TO TAKE UP THE OFFER

1 Collect three tokens – of which two MUST be from those published regularly in the Cambridge News. The third can also be from the Cambridge News, or you can use one of our bonus tokens.

These are published in our Weekly News and News & Crier titles or can be printed off from our website by visiting www.cambridge-news.co.uk/Dine-Out-for-10/. Photocopies will not be accepted.

2 Phone to book a place at your chosen restaurant, stating that you wish to take advantage of the 'Dine Out for £10' offer. Don't forget, the venues are running the offer at certain times and days of the week, as stated in this guide.

3 Present your tokens as you order your food. Three tokens entitle two people to dine for £10 EACH on the special Cambridge News menus – excluding drinks. If more than two people are dining you'll need more tokens: six tokens for 3-4 people, nine for 5-6 people etc.

Rebecca Ferguson

Rebecca Ferguson plus guests will perform at Thetford Forest on Thursday, June 12. Tickets cost £36.50 (including booking fee). Buy online at forestry.gov.uk/music or call 03000 680400.

SHE'S the former X-Factor finalist with that rare thing, credibility, and, as Lydia Fallon discovers, humility too. Meet Rebecca Ferguson: the popstar doing things her way.

"I'm such a slob. When I'm just at home people wouldn't recognise me," giggles Rebecca Ferguson down the phone, a ray of sunshine on an otherwise gloomy day. "Like now, my hair is frizzy; I've got a pair of comfy pyjamas on and no make-up."

Rebecca Ferguson, the glamorous popstar and Becky, the down to earth mum-of-two (soon to be three, she's recently announced there's another on the way), couldn't be more different. Watch the former perform live – all backcombed beehive, spidery eyelashes and retro red pout – and it's hard to believe this classic soul voice, laced with the kind of raw emotion and vulnerability which cuts straight through you, can come from the same girl happiest at home in the garden with her kids.

Humble and honest, she laughs often, constantly poking fun at herself and her refreshingly 'normal' lifestyle. She's the popstar you'd want to live next door to. The down-to-earth girl from Liverpool you'd want to share, as she puts it, a "proper brew" with. It just so happens she can also make the hairs on the back of your neck stand on end when she belts out a ballad. "I don't go to many celebrity parties and am not into the whole fame thing," she muses, in her thick Scouse twang. "In some ways it can hinder you; I might not get the jewellery lines or certain things other pop acts get, but at the same time I get to go home, close my door and have a normal life, and then go to work and be Rebecca Ferguson – I feel like I have a good balance."

Her words are not exactly synonymous with your average 21st century popstar, let alone reality TV alumni. But then again, Rebecca Ferguson has always been happy to go against the grain. Catapulted to fame in 2010 when she came second to a certain Matt Cardle on The X-Factor, she was the cripplingly shy single mum-of-two, captivating audiences with her raw velvety tones and understated performances (YouTube her version of Sam Cooke's A Change Is Gonna Come for guaranteed goosebumps).

She reached the Top 10 with debut single Nothing's Real But Love and No 3 with album Heaven, a collection of pop songs which seemed to crystallise a lifetime of experience for the listener.

It hasn't all been plain sailing though. The past two years have been tumultuous to say the least with Rebecca falling victim to a stalker, allegedly being conned out of £100,000 and having a very public fall-out with her management company.

She nearly gave it all up, but fortunately life these days is much, much better. "I'm really happy you know. I'm the happiest I've been in a very long time, which is quite sad actually when I look back. But I think I've just become content and figured out how to be happy."

Eel be there, will you?

ALTERNATIVE American rock band Eels are dropping into Cambridge this month as part of a North American and European tour which also takes in New York, Los Angeles, Paris and London's Royal Albert Hall.

The tour, which follows the release of their new album The Cautionary Tales of Mark Oliver Everett in April, comes to the Corn Exchange on Wednesday, June 18.

The new album from singer/songwriter, multi-instrumentalist and Eels front man Mark Oliver Everett (aka E) is being described as "an extraordinarily vivid and intimate document of a personal struggle".

The Cautionary Tales of Mark Oliver Everett marks the 11th full-length release for Eels, whose debut Beautiful Freak was released in 1996. In addition to the recordings, Everett has embarked on a number of non-musical projects as well including his acclaimed book Things the Grandchildren Should Know and the multiple-award winning Parallel Worlds, Parallel Lives documentary film about Everett and his quantum physicist father, Hugh Everett III, broadcast on the BBC.

Stadling a wide variety of musical styles, the band's line-up has changed many times and Everett the only official member for the most of the band's career, which has seen them featured on numerous film soundtracks. Tickets for the Cambridge show, which cost £27.50, can be booked at www.cornex.co.uk or by calling the box office on (01223) 357851.

■ Popular Centre Stage
Company returns to the Arts Centre with THE PRODUCERS until Saturday 7 June at 7.30pm and a 2.30pm matinee on the Saturday. Based on Mel Brooks hit 1968 film; an American cult classic satirical dark comedy telling the story of Producer Max Bialystock and accountant Leo Bloom who want to produce a sure-fire Broadway flop. Max selects an incredibly tasteless script, hires the worst director with terrible casting he can find, takes more money from investors than they can repay, but against all the odds audiences love it! Sounds like another hit for Centre Stage, come along if you fancy a laugh.

■ The Haverhill Festival 2014
gets going with a live broadcast from the National Theatre of A SMALL FAMILY BUSINESS on Thursday 12 June at 7pm; it is a riotous exposure of entrepreneurial greed by Olivier Award-winning playwright Alan Ayckbourn. Jack McCracken: a man of principle in a corrupt world. But not for long. Moments after taking over his father-in-law's business he is approached by a private detective armed with some compromising information. Jack's integrity fades away as he discovers his extended family to be thieves and adulterers.

■ Drift back to the 50s and 60s on Friday 13 June at 8pm when THE EVERLY BROTHERS TRIBUTE takes place. The Temple Brothers are the UK's leading tribute to the greatest harmony brothers of all time. Being brothers themselves, their harmonies are flawless; and with their live acoustic guitar playing they effortlessly recreate the magic of the Everly Brothers. With nearly three dozen charted hits, who can forget Bye Bye Love, Wake Up Little Susie, Cathy's Clown, When Will I Be Loved and All I Have to Do Is Dream? Not me!

■ On the cinema front gripping dark comedy CALVARY (15) is showing on Wednesday 11 at 1.30pm and Tuesday 17 June at 7.30pm. Kindly rural priest Father Lavelle is threatened in the confession box by an unseen man who vows to kill him in a week's time. The priest thinks he knows the identity of the killer and the ensuing days become a guessing game as we watch Father Lavelle visit members of his troublesome flock. Starring Brendan Gleeson, Kelly Reilly and Chris O'Dowd.

FRUITVALE STATION (15, 85 mins)
AT approximately 9.15am on January 1, 2009, 22-year-old Oscar Grant III died on the operating table of Highland Hospital in Oakland, California.

Several hours earlier, the young black man and his friends were detained by police at Fruitvale Station on the Bay Area Rapid Transit (BART) system that serves San Francisco.

During chaotic scenes on the platform, one of the officers shot Grant in the back as he was being detained face down on the ground.

Footage captured by witnesses on mobile phones and cameras sparked protests across the city.

Fruitvale Station dramatises the final 24 hours in the life of Grant (Michael B Jordan), recounted in chronological order except for a single emotionally devastating flashback in which the young man recalls a visit from his mother Wanda (Octavia Spencer) to San Quentin Correctional Facility to hammer home the damage he is doing to his young daughter Tatiana (Ariana Neal).

On December 31, 2008, Oscar takes Tatiana to school then drops off his girlfriend Sophina (Melonie Diaz) at work.

He heads to the grocery store to pick up two crabs from the fish counter for his mother's birthday and helps a customer (Ahna O'Reilly) with a cooking dilemma by putting her in touch with his grandma (Marjorie Shears).

He also collars store manager Emi (Victor Toman) and we learn that Oscar lost his job two weeks ago and hasn't told Sophina.

"For me to hire you back, that means I have to let someone else go. Someone who's never showed up late once. I like you man, but I can't do that," explains Emi.

Bristling with frustration, Oscar stops film of the week

briefly at a petrol station, where he witnesses a stray pitbull being knocked down.

"Help!" screams Oscar as he cradles the dying animal.

No one answers, foreshadowing the senseless loss of precious life in the film's closing moments.

Fruitvale Station is a gripping portrait of a flawed man, who struggles to rebuild bridges and atone for his sins but always seems to be dragged back into the mire.

Like the train that carried Oscar and his friends home from the New Year's Eve fireworks, Ryan Coogler's film has a relentless sense of momentum and won't be deviated from its tragic course, no matter how hard he will it.

Jordan is terrific in the lead role – charming and volatile, cocksure yet desperately unsure how he will pay next month's rent. Diaz is luminous and Oscar winner Spencer, pictured, is mesmerising, staring at her boy's lifeless body and sobbing, "I told him to catch the BART. I didn't know they were gonna hurt him."

Coogler opens with footage of the actual shooting and he retains the gritty realism in acutely observed scenes of family life. His script speaks from the heart and touches and rends ours with every word.

Perfect gifts for dads

HELP gardening dads get to work on their allotments, borders and lawns with the great range of gardening gifts on offer this Father's Day. Choose the right tools and accessories and your dad will soon be making light work of his digging, pruning, staking and clipping. Here's our pick of the crop...

Best foot forward

Footwear is an essential part of comfortable gardening and Backdoorshoes have new designs of Shedshoes with men in mind. They're lightweight, slip on and off easily and the new 'Mulchwood' design makes a change from boring old block colours that you find in other gardening clogs. £20, www.backdoorshoes.co.uk

En-twined

If Dad's always losing his gardening string, splash out on a useful twine dispenser from Nutscene which also incorporates a cutting blade within the 'thistle top' stand for handy cutting and looks great in the potting shed. The dispenser, which is made in the UK from managed forests, includes a ball of jute twine. £16.50, www.nutscene.com

Multi-purpose magic

Garden scissors are a must-have for any gardener but the new Cuts+More multi-tool scissors from Fiskars do much more than cut gardening string.

by Hannah Stephenson

Open them up and you have a wealth of other features including a twine and wire cutter, a power notch for cutting light rope and even a bottle opener if he fancies a beer at the end of the day. £19.99, www.fiskars.co.uk

Bulb planting made easy

At the end of summer, when your dad is thinking about bulb planting but has trouble bending down to plant the narcissi and other spring blooms, an ideal present is Burgon & Ball's new long-handled bulb planter, which was recently nominated as Chelsea Garden Product of the Year. This RHS-endorsed tool slices through soil with ease thanks to its sharp, angled blade. With FSC certified ash handle. £29.95, www.burgonandball.com

Trim-endous

To help keep lawn and borders trim, Dad might welcome one of the new range of cordless grass trimmers from Bosch, including the ART 23-18 LI. The updated cutting system uses Durablades, which last up to 12 times longer than current blades, powered by an 18V lithium-ion battery which provides full blade speed until the end of the charge.

He will be able to get under garden benches and other awkward corners thanks to a 90-degree

rotating head which can change from trimming to edging. £92.95, www.amazon.co.uk

Time for a cuppa

Budget-conscious buyers may plump for a good old-fashioned enamel mug with an apt comment on it. Perhaps as a variation on the 'Keep Calm' theme, the Wild & Wolf Dig For Victory enamel mug may fit the bill. £6.95, www.wildandwolf.com

Grime-busters

If you want to give him something altogether more stylish and pampering, consider a novel gift from Heyland & Whittle, comprising three bars of natural soap, handmade in England and presented within the pages of a 'book' called Grime & Punishment. £20, www.heylandandwhittle.co.uk

Weather-wise

Style-conscious dads may appreciate some practical and comfortable clothing, such as a handy gardening gilet from Genus. Completely windproof, the lightweight soft shell fabric has a durable water-repellent finish and a soft waffle fleece lining, while fast wicking properties draw moisture away from the body. With a tough lined pocket in the back to secure secateurs or knives. £89, www.genus.gs

Garden Geckos

If he'd rather have an ornament, bring a touch of fun and a Mediterranean flair to your dad's garden with this pair of metal geckos, which have integrated hooks on the reverse for easy hanging. £12.95, www.houseofbath.co.uk

German is satisfying

CARS made by German-owned manufacturers are the most satisfying, according to a survey of more than 15,000 motorists, writes Peter Woodman.

German vehicles took seven of the top 10 places in a customer satisfaction table compiled by What Car? and marketing information services company JD Power.

Volkswagen took the top two places, with the Volkswagen Up hatchback first and the Golf Plus in second. Skoda, which is part of the Volkswagen Group, was third with its Yeti model.

Fourth was the Mercedes-Benz C-Class, with the Volkswagen Scirocco fifth and the Volkswagen Tiguan sixth.

Compiled earlier this year, the results were based on customer satisfaction with models registered between January 2011 and December 2012.

Owners were asked to judge their vehicle on a number of criteria including vehicle appeal, upkeep costs and dealer service quality.

A total of 109 vehicles were assessed, with the lowest marks going to the Chevrolet Spark, the Alfa Romeo Mito and the Citroen C3.

In a table assessing manufacturers rather than individual models, the equal-top companies were Jaguar and Lexus, with Mercedes-Benz third, Skoda fourth and Volkswagen fifth.

What Car? editor Jim Holder said: "The Volkswagen Group deserves special congratulations.

"It is clearly building cars that have showroom appeal and, even more importantly, deliver in real life. Cars that perform in customer satisfaction surveys are a great recommendation for car buyers and act as a great barometer to a car's quality."

These were the top 10 models:

1. Volkswagen Up
2. Volkswagen Golf Plus
3. Skoda Yeti
4. Mercedes-Benz C-Class
5. Volkswagen Scirocco
6. Volkswagen Tiguan
- 7= Lexus CT200h
- 7= Skoda Octavia
- 7= Volvo V70/XC70
10. Jaguar XF

LOOKING GOOD: The new Chrysler Ypsilon

Chrysler Ypsilon updated

DETAILS and pricing for the revised Chrysler Ypsilon range have been announced by Fiat.

The range features new entry and premium versions, extra kit on the mid-range car, fresh colour choices, and new names that bring the UK series in line with the rest of Europe.

Powered by a choice of three economical, low emission engines – 1.2-litre 69bhp petrol, 1.3-litre Multijet 95bhp diesel, and 0.9-litre 85 hp petrol – the range now comes in three trim levels, Silver, Gold and Platinum.

And with a starting price of just £9,895 for the 1.2 Silver, the new Ypsilon, which is available in the UK now and "represents outstanding value for money".

Ypsilon Silver, which replaces the S version, is comparably equipped but includes internal and external styling changes, new seat design and detail finishes.

The exterior is further enhanced by three new colours: Marble Grey, Khaki Grey, and Sapphire Blue.

Prices for the new Chrysler Ypsilon start peak at £14,895 for the 0.9 TwinAir Auto Platinum.

8MM CINE FILM TRANSFER TO DVD

STANDARD 8 & SUPER 8
If you treasure those old 8mm cine films containing images of your family members, they need to be preserved in the best possible way.

FRAME-BY-FRAME SCANNING is the only way to retrieve the full image quality from these movies - bringing them into the digital age. They can then be copied an unlimited number of times. Our process will give you a vastly superior image compared to earlier techniques.

See our website: www.8mmfilmscan.com or call Ely 01353 864779

Peterborough, described as the UK's best kept secret, is also the country's fastest growing city

We are determined to improve quality of life for all local people including our staff.

At the same time as building a great career, could you make the difference to some of our most vulnerable children and young people?

"Here in Peterborough we like to think of ourselves as the UK's best kept secret. We are also the fastest growing city in the country. As a council, we're working hard to improve the quality of life for all of our residents."

"That's where you could come in."

"We're looking for people who can really make a difference to the most vulnerable people in our city. Help us ensure that the most vulnerable children in Peterborough also get the chance to realise their dreams and share in our city's success."

Team Manager

(First Response, Family Support, Fostering & Conference and Review Grade 14 (£42,938 - £47,594 plus £5k market force supplement)

Make a real difference in Peterborough. In return, you will enjoy excellent career benefits, a competitive remuneration package, a supportive working environment, and development opportunities. In Peterborough, we work in small teams and offer excellent supervision and support and manageable caseloads. We have an ethos of supporting our workforce with continuous practice development opportunities.

We offer an extensive package which includes:

- A great relocation package (up to £8.5k)
- Leadership and management training
- Generous holiday allowance (up to 31 days, plus bank holidays).
- Local Authority pension scheme
- Great location – Peterborough is an exciting place to live and work excellent road and rail links and London less than an hour away by train.
- An iPhone

Professionally qualified and registered with the HCPC you will have excellent interpersonal skills, and in-depth knowledge of safeguarding issues, and extensive experience of working within children's services and competence at working within a culturally diverse environment. Our ambition is to become the employer of choice in the region.

Open glory for Whiting and Hulyer

THERE was double success for Haverhill juniors Lewis Whiting and Joshua Hulyer at the Waldringfield Open.

Whiting won the category one section for players with a handicap of 10 or lower after shooting a one-over-par gross 72, and edged out Rushmere Golf Club's James Bloomfield after a play-off.

Whiting was four over par after six holes, but had clawed his way back to being level on the 18th, only to bogey it.

However, Bloomfield shot 72 as well which set up a play-off on the 10th hole.

Whiting hit a driver into the right-hand side green bunker on the par four, followed by playing out to between 10 and 12 feet and holing the putt.

Bloomfield was only able to par the hole, which meant Whiting took the win.

Meanwhile, Hulyer won the category two section for players with a 10 to 18 handicap after carding a nett score of one-under-par 70 in the 18-hole medal competition.

Ben Bradnam won Haverhill Golf Club's junior Spring Cup on countback from James Iron.

Bradnam and Iron both scored 61, with Iron's sister Alice third on 70, having received two courtesy shots.

The Iron siblings were joined by Dan Walker when Haverhill's junior team played in the second round of the Junior Team Handicap Cup away to Gorleston Golf Club.

The stableford competition, played off full handicap with the total score of the team to count, saw Haverhill win 86-85.

That victory set up a third-round tie at home to Newton Green Golf Club on June 21.

Haverhill's Fiona Stokes was part of the team that represented Suffolk Junior Girls at her home club against the junior team from Cambs & Hunts.

Despite the matches being very close, Cambs & Hunts took an overall victory 3-1.

Jackie Condon won the ladies' midweek stableford with 32 points, three ahead of Pat Wellstead. Norma Humphrey was third on countback with 27.

In the Saturday stableford, Lyn Fish beat Catie Heathfield on countback after both had scored 32 and Mary Sail was two back in third.

Haverhill beat Sockford Golf Club 3-2 in an away mixed friendly match.

The visitors fielded five pairs, but one of Sockford's drew which saw their match conceded to Siobhan and Tom Harrison, who took the opportunity to play the course anyway.

The other Haverhill pairings were club captain Bob Spittle and ladies' captain Theresa Spittle, Sheila and Gordon Price, Simon Cousins and Pat Kennedy, Ted and Anna Fairhead, and Mary Sail and Alan Carter.

Champ: Joshua Hulyer won category two at the Waldringfield Open.

> Triathlon

Tappin breaks his tri target

Haverhill triathlete Jack Tappin took more than 10 minutes off his best triathlon time when he competed in the Outlaw Half.

The 26-year-old was among 1,200 fellow triathletes to swim 1.2 miles, cycle 57 miles and run a half marathon at the National Water Sports Centre at Holme Pierrepont near Nottingham.

Tappin completed the 70.3-mile course in 5hr 54min 49sec – smashing his previous personal best of 6hr 5min. "I'd hoped to finish in under six hours so am delighted with the result," he said.

"I knew I'd done the swim well and doing front crawl for the first time left me facing the challenge of being in the pack and clattering into people.

"I thought the cycle would be around 50 miles as they're usually shorter than stated but this was actually a little longer than the 56.

"I was off my bike at the four-hour mark so thought I wouldn't do sub six as the best half marathon time I'd done in a tri was two hours five.

"I was hoping to keep it around nine minutes a mile but managed to start around eight and keep the speed up, and when I got into the second lap I knew I could manage sub six. It was great to manage that and complete my 2014 tri goal at the first attempt."

Registration is available online at http://www.lvc.org/pages/Friends_of_LVC.php until Sunday. After that date, entries will be taken on the day until 10am.

The race starts at 10.30am at Linton Village College.

> Tennis

Haverhill Tennis Club's men's A team suffered their first loss of the season in Halstead & Braintree League, Division One, going down 5-4 at home to defending champions Braintree A.

In what was an agonising loss for the team there was some consolation to be taken in securing a losing bonus point that will ensure they continue to challenge near the top of the table.

The pairings of James Booth and Josh Dashwood, and Adam Fowle and Gratz Senn both won two matches to

Haverhill suffer first league defeat put Haverhill 4-3 up and on course for victory.

But the hosts suffered a serious setback when Brenton Mattheus suffered an ankle injury which forced him and partner Robert Jeffs to concede one of their three matches.

With the other one lost, the outcome of the match depended on the final rubber, for which Brenton Mattheus gallantly took to the court after some treatment.

The pair put in a superb effort, with Brenton Mattheus almost playing on one leg, but fell just short as Braintree edged the deciding rubber.

Haverhill ladies' team had something to celebrate when they won 8-0 at Red Lodge in Norfolk & Suffolk League, Division Two.

Sarah Lee made her debut with Marcia Armstrong and played a key role with many volleyed winners and sharp net play. The other pairing of Shannon Tobin and Sharon Mattheus also impressed, with the former's strong forehand neatly complementing the latter's steady all-court game and impressive serves.
